

2.5.2 Mechanism of internal assessment is transparent and robust in terms of frequency and variety

There is an orientation programme regarding conduct of internal assessment or very similar tests in every month for the teachers. The teachers discuss questions while teaching in the class and prepare questions on the prescribed topic. They set possible questions in the internal assessment as per the university pattern to prepare them for final university examinations. The process adopted by the teachers is very transparent method. This evaluation and assessment is conducted regularly every month and the questions are up to standards like that of university examinations. The students also get variety of questions covering all topics.
